Community invited to help identify attributes new city manager should possess

MENLO PARK – Residents have just five more days to use the on-line questionnaire to provide thoughts and ideas regarding the skills, experience and attributes the next Menlo Park City Manager should possess. Residents are encouraged to follow the link on the City’s web page at www.menlopark.org and complete an on-line questionnaire which will be available until Tuesday, September 20, 2011.

If you are not able to utilize the on-line survey by the deadline, two other input methods remain available through September 27:

1. Input may be emailed directly to Avery Associates, the recruitment firm retained by Menlo Park to conduct this recruitment. They have set up a dedicated email box at MPCM@averyassoc.net. Please send your input as soon as you can.
2. Community members may also attend the September 27, 2011 City Council meeting, which begins at 7:00 PM, when Council will receive final input and approve the final job profile.

According to Menlo Park Mayor Richard Cline, the City Council appreciates and values community participation. “We really do want to hear the community’s input on the City Manager’s position, which is vital to the continued health of our community. The more input we receive into this important process, the better the result will be.”
