Civil Rights Tales

February 7 * Saturday * 11 a.m.
Free Performance

In honor of Black History Month

Civil Rights Tales, is a “living history” of Civil Rights performed by Stagebridge, the nation’s longest-running senior theater company. These Bay Area seniors share their legacy of the Civil Rights Movement as they lived through the struggles for racial justice. The stories will be followed by an open discussion about the road we have traveled and the journey ahead.
