Positive Discipline for Developing Capable Young People

Dr. Jane Nelsen is a licensed Marriage, Family and Child Counselor in Carlsbad, CA and South Jordan, UT. She is the author of the popular Positive Discipline Series and many other outstanding books.

Learn more than 20 proven, effective non-punitive strategies to help children develop self-discipline, responsibility, cooperation problem-solving skills, and feelings of competence, confidence, and capability in homes and classrooms

Dr. Nelsen's doctorate degree in Educational Psychology from the University of San Francisco in 1979 is secondary to the education and experience she achieved from her successes and failures as a mother of seven children. She now shares this wealth of knowledge and experience as a popular keynote speaker and workshop leader throughout the country. Jane is very well received by school district, teacher organizations, conferences, and parent education networks throughout the world. Letters come in daily from parents and teachers worldwide who have had much success with the principles outlined in her books, workshops, and lectures. She has appeared on Oprah, Sally Jessy Raphael, and Twin Cities Live, and was the featured parent expert on the National Parent Quiz with Ben Vereen.

What people are saying about Dr. Jane Nelsen . . .

"We could not have asked to receive any more valuable information than that which you gave us! 'a common-sense approach to parenting' would be my description."

—Leslie Hayes, Co-Chair, Alcohol and Drug Conference, Junior League of Huntsville, Inc.

"I've run community education programs for over eight years and I must say this is the first one that actually gives people the skills and techniques to make changes. Your straightforward and common-sense approach is enlightening in dealing with children of all ages and family relationships."

—Karen Pierce, HCA Portsmouth Pavilion
